PREPARATION INSTRUCTIONS: If you're working with a large group, with limited time or with younger children it helps to precut the cord into 36" lengths.

INSTRUCTIONS:

You can make this for yourself or as a gift for someone special.

1. Plan a design for your pendant. You can sketch it out lightly in pencil before you start to paint if you wish.
2. Paint your design. It helps to let the paint dry before layering another color over it to avoid unwanted blending. Bisque dries very quickly so this should not take long. You can also paint both sides and the edges.
3. Once your design is complete and dry, fold the cord in half and slip the folded center through the hole in the pendant and make a loop. Feed the 2 ends of cord through the loop and pull (this is called a Lark's Head knot). This knot will allow your pendant to lay flat. Add your additional beads on either side of the pendant if you'd like. Match up the ends of the cord and double knot together to create the necklace! Snip off the excess ends and your new necklace is done!
